■■ FIGURES / IMAGE INFORMATION

- Fig. 1 — The Dream of Worldwide Democratic and Social Republics – The Pact Between Nations
Prepared by Frédéric Sorrieu, 1848. It shows peoples of Europe and America marching towards the statue of Liberty. Liberty is represented as a female figure carrying the torch of Enlightenment and the Charter of the Rights of Man. The peoples are identified by flags and national costume. Christ, saints and angels symbolise fraternity among nations.
- Fig. 2 — Cover of a German almanac
Designed by Andreas Rebmann, 1798. The French Bastille is placed next to a fortress representing despotic rule in the German province of Kassel. Slogan: 'The people must seize their own freedom!'
- Fig. 3 — Europe after the Congress of Vienna, 1815
Map showing Europe after the Vienna settlement. Map itself is an important NCERT figure.
- Fig. 4 — The Planting of Tree of Liberty in Zweibrücken, Germany
Colour print by Karl Kaspar Fritz. French soldiers are portrayed as oppressors. The plaque on the Tree of Liberty carries a sarcastic German inscription referring to freedom and equality.
- Fig. 5 — The courier of Rhineland loses all that he has on his way home from Leipzig
Napoleon is represented as a postman returning to France after losing the Battle of Leipzig in 1813; letters falling from his bag bear names of territories he lost.
- Fig. 6 — The Club of Thinkers
Anonymous caricature, c. 1820. It depicts censorship and restrictions on freedom of speech.

■■ IMPORTANT CORRECTION FROM THE PREVIOUS PDF

The earlier PDF incorrectly presented some information as if it were part of the NCERT ‘Some Important Dates’ list. This corrected version keeps the NCERT date sequence separate and restores the missing Fig. 3 — Europe after the Congress of Vienna, 1815. It also uses the full NCERT figure captions where relevant.
